Advertising in our pages helps us!

For companies selling scientific equipments and technologies: you have a particular interest to put ads in our journal: there are several places where to inform about your products (in article pages as shown below, in journal site, in published volumes pages, ...). Corporate sponsorship is also welcome!

Announce to companies for advertisements/ sponsor announcements within the pages of the journal

MATERIALS AND DEVICES proposes advertisements for your company in its journal pages!

All articles in the journal are freely available for all, and have therefore many reads. Your ads may be shown in several places: articles cover page, half of which is reserved to advertisements and bottom of all pages of articles have also a space reserved for ads (see the bottom of this page as an example). Moreover, each issue (collecting several articles, between 20 and 40) has a special page entirely reserved for advertisements, so that your ads cannot escape to the attention of the journal's readers.

Take into account that MATERIALS AND DEVICES is a scientific research journal devoted to all aspects of materials, with a particular emphasis on sustainable development and environment preservation. It has a solid international editorial board (more than 20 countries are represented), so that readers correspond exactly to the target of ads for companies working in scientific equipment, labs products, scientific softwares, new technologies, electronics, optics, mechanics, etc. The journal is therefore a favorite place where to put your announcements and informations about your products. Moreover, companies putting ads in the journal pages are also acknowledged in the site of the NGO Collaborating Academics where they are identified as companies supporting our actions.

The same principles apply for sponsors: they have a special page devoted to them in each volume of the journal, and ads in the same places as described above.

Consider also that the journal is Open Access, which favours reading by a wide public, studies show that such journals are read about 10 times more than usual ones!

In the launching period of the journal (first half of 2016) ads are at a very good rate, starting from 200€ for one year, don't miss this opportunity!
